BUDDING FLY FISHING WRITERS

Here is your chance to gain some experience writing about your fabulous fly fishing trips to places near and far. The club newsletter is seriously lacking in members written and photographic accounts of our fishouts. Of course you may not think a trip to Putah Creek is worthy of such notoriety, but remember, many members have never been there and would welcome a description of how your fishout went. And as for a trip to Alaska or Baja, a story of your adventure would be most appreciated. Send articles to the editor

NOTE FROM TREASURER, BILL PEAKES – Mission Peak Fly Angler's patches and pins are available from Bill at a nominal price. New members should have received either a pin or a patch when they joined; if not, call Bill Peakes.

The President's Message

Our November meeting gets pushed up to the third Wednesday of the month, on the 19th so that all of us get a head start on Thanksgiving Holiday. The annual board and officer elections will be held at the November meeting as well. We will accept write in candidates at anytime. And as Larry Dennis suggests, "Vote early and vote often." Trout season is closed, but for the brave at heart, steelhead season is just getting underway. There are plenty of year round and winter fisheries available as well. Lets hope that we get a good wet winter under our belts, not only for the fish's sake but also for the Delta region as well. Were you able to fish as often as you liked and do you have any fond memories from this year? Did you fish with any of the new club members? What worked for you and what did not? Did you try out any new waters to expand your fishing experience? I look back on the year in reflection for what could have been done to improve the quality of time on the water- whether it was for new techniques, flies, equipment or the people I fished with. It is always nice to go outside your comfort zone in order to try something new, especially if you have a positive response. Isn't that what everyone is looking for? That positive response doesn't have to come directly to myself, but perhaps it is the company that I am fishing with. This is what memories are built on. Anyone wishing to extend fishing time with Makarand, it is best that you do it soon. His wife is expecting their second child in January and he will be spending more time with the family and curtailing his time fishing. Congrats to Madhuri and Makarand.

Things really start slowing down in preparation for the holidays. Jeff Lorelli is always looking for folks that wish to offer up their favorite waters and be a Fishmaster for the upcoming year. We have had a pretty good response and interest in a Saw Mill Lake trip for next year, especially after the photos of a recognizable bank fisherman and his chartreuse bunny leach, so we will try to add a second day- hopefully mid week. There has also been an interest in mid week trips by the grey beards (retired folk) in our club that do not have to wait for Friday night to take off for the hills. If you have a mid week trip that you would like to add to the list, contact Jeff as well. Ken Brunskill is spear heading a worthwhile program, the Healing Waters Program with the local Livermore VA Hospital for returning disabled Veterans from the Iraq War/Conflict. Anyone wishing to help out with this worthwhile endeavor should contact Ken Brunskill.

There is a noticeable group that consistently takes on the bulk of the club's behind the scene responsibilities. I refer to them as "the same old folks". Ever consider becoming part of that group? Volunteers are what make this club function. You do not have to wait to be asked to be included in the group. It is not a righteous inner circle that excludes individuals from participation either. You don't have to have a lot of the fishing knowledge either because it is not required, just a desire and the time to help out. There are some benefits though, like knowing first hand when events are planned. If there are activities limited to a few, those folks usually get in just because they were involved. I always looked at it as getting more for my annual membership through a more direct participation. If I look back, it is the same group that I fish with as well and probably because of this contact with them on committees or board meetings

Mission Peak Fly Anglers Board Meeting – November 5, 2008

President Craig Gittings brought the meeting to order at 6:59pm. Present were VP Wayne Culp, Treasurer Bill Peakes, Secretary Dean Lewis, Board Members Doug Fear, Harold Whitmore and Ray Gauthier and Committee Chairs Stephen Culp, Ken Brunskill and Rich Lobrovich.

Old Business:

501c(3): Discussion re: being a Charter Club vs filing our own application. Board elected to continue our own application. Stephen will get filing in before January. Also, the club received a check from FFF for the Trout in the Classroom project.

Election of new Officers: Wayne for President, Ray for VP, Dean for Secretary, Bill for Treasurer, Stephen and Malcolm for Directors is the slate developed by the election committee. Dean was going to create and send all members a ballot. Ballots will be available at the meeting (11/19/08 – early).

Letter Writing: Stephen is already getting back responses for prizes for the annual dinner. So far we haven't had any movement on contacting Crystal Springs for material.

Name Tags: Dean still needs to submit his receipts for the creating the name tags. Thanks Dean.

NCCFFF Donation: We are still in the process of creating a name plate to show MPFA donated the item.

New Business:

Treasurer's Report: Bill reported that we are healthy.

Programs: Rich Lobrovich has Bill Peaks doing a "Trout Bum" presentation in November..

Fly Tying: George Bouvoin will be tying in November for the program. Last chance for the Fukumoto award.

Fishouts: Calvin Chin was going to the Trinity on 11/8 and Rich has an Orvis outing on the 11/14.

December Fly Tying: The December meeting will be for all members and will be a "Sale/Trade/or Give Away" session where members can come and attempt to find a home for stuff they no longer want, need or have room for. Start getting your stuff together for this fun session.

Tie Along: Ken Hanley will be tying his furred flies at a tie along on March 21. $15 per person limited to 8 persons. Harold is getting the room.

Cortland Fly Lines: Every year Cortland offers excess inventory of fly lines at $6 each for 20 or more. Dean moved and Craig seconded that we purchase 20 lines for the raffles. Motion passed.

Project Healing Waters: Ken Brunskill had a form for the club to complete that would allow us to participate in this program. Doug moved and Bill seconded that the club complete the form so we can participate. Motion passed.

Meeting adjourned at 7:55

Respectively submitted, Dean Lewis, Secretary

California State Auditor/Bureau of State Audits - Summary of Report 2008-115 - October 2008

Department of Fish and Game: Its Limited Success in Identifying Viable Projects and Its Weak Controls Reduce the Benefit of Revenues From Sales of the Bay Delta Sport Fishing Enhancement Stamp

AUDIT HIGHLIGHTS

Our review of the Department of Fish and Game's (Fish and Game) administration of the Bay-Delta Sport Fishing Enhancement Stamp (fish stamp) program revealed the following:

Fish and Game's use of the money collected from fish stamp sales has been limited.

Fish and Game and the fish stamp advisory committee (committee) have been slow in identifying and approving projects.

As of June 30, 2008, the fish stamp account had an unspent balance of over $7 million, although a portion of this amount was committed to approved projects that have not yet been funded.

Fish and Game does not have an accurate accounting of either its administrative expenditures or individual project expenditures for the fish stamp program.

Periodic reports Fish and Game provides to the committee do not include all the required information.

During fiscal years 2005-06 through 2007-08, Fish and Game spent an estimated $201,000 in fish stamp funds to pay for payroll costs and goods and services unrelated to fish stamp activities.

RESULTS IN BRIEF

The mission of the Department of Fish and Game (Fish and Game) is to manage California's diverse fish, wildlife, and plant resources, and the habitats upon which they depend, for their ecological values and for their use and enjoyment by the public. To facilitate this mission, the department deposits in the Fish and Game Preservation Fund (preservation fund) the money collected under the State's Fish and Game Code. The preservation fund's major source of revenue is the sale of hunting and fishing licenses.

State law requiring certain anglers to purchase the Bay-Delta Sport Fishing Enhancement Stamp (fish stamp) became effective on January 1, 2004, and it mandates that revenue generated from sales of the fish stamp be maintained in a separate account within the preservation fund. State law also requires that Fish and Game spend the funds in that account only for activities that promote sportfishing opportunities or that provide long-term, sustainable benefits either to the primary sportfishing population or to anglers in the areas defined as bay-delta regulated waters. These areas encompass the tidal waters of the San Francisco Bay and Delta, the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta, and their tributary rivers to the most downstream dam.

Fish and Game's use of the money collected from fish stamp sales has been limited. The increasing balance in the account into which Fish and Game deposits the money does not benefit those currently paying the fish stamp fee. Although sales of fish stamps began on January 1, 2004, Fish and Game did not consistently begin funding projects using fish stamp revenues until fiscal year 2006-07. Fish stamp sales during fiscal years 2003-04 and 2004-05 totaled $2.9 million, but Fish and Game did not attempt to obtain spending authority or identify any projects to fund during that time, and it funded only three projects during fiscal year 2005-06. The fish stamp advisory committee (committee), which consists of up to nine members appointed by the director of Fish and Game, also has been slow to identify and recommend projects.

Fish and Game had annual spending authority of $386,000 for fiscal year 2005-06 and a total of about $1.8 million for both fiscal years 2006-07 and 2007-08. However, while fish stamp revenues and interest have totaled $8.6 million since the inception of the program in 2004, the amounts approved for project funding (commitments) have totaled only $2.6 million, and actual project and administrative expenditures totaled just $1.6 million through fiscal year 2007-08. As of June 30, 2008, the fish stamp account had an unspent balance of more than $7 million, although a portion was committed to approved projects that have not yet been funded. Thus, individuals who purchase the fish stamp are not obtaining the full benefit of the fees they are required to pay.

Furthermore, Fish and Game lacks adequate controls over the fish stamp program. Accounting records do not clearly identify whether expenditures are for administrative or project costs. With one exception, the accounting system does not allow staff to trace expenditures to a specific project. Although individual project managers attempt to track the costs of projects for which they are responsible, they do not always have complete information because not all expenditures charged to specific fish stamp projects are routed to them for approval. Neither the project managers nor the Fish and Game accounting services branch reconciles to the accounting records the information maintained by project managers. In fact, a reconciliation would be very difficult to complete since the accounting system does not typically identify expenditures by project. As a result, Fish and Game does not have an accurate accounting of either the administrative expenditures or individual project expenditures for the fish stamp program.

Additionally, the periodic reports Fish and Game provides to the committee do not include project expenditures or detailed information on project status. Rather than report the actual expenditures and status of each project as required by law, Fish and Game reports only the amount of funds committed for each project. Moreover, Fish and Game has presented to the committee inaccurate information, including information related to its spending authority. This failure to provide clear information to the committee results in Fish and Game and the committee being less able to recommend appropriate projects to fund and less informed on the status of ongoing projects.

We also identified expenditures that Fish and Game charged inappropriately to the fish stamp account. The law specifying allowable uses of fish stamp revenue is broad, but based on our review of a sample of expenditures, Fish and Game does not ensure that the money is used appropriately. We estimate that during fiscal years 2005-06 through 2007-08, Fish and Game spent more than $201,000 for payroll costs and for goods and services unrelated to fish stamp activities. In addition, we identified an instance in which Fish and Game charged its general fund appropriation for rent that the fish stamp account should have paid. Lastly, Fish and Game did not charge any administrative costs to this account in fiscal years 2003-04 and 2004-05 even though it incurred costs related to the program during those years. Because of Fish and Game's accounting control weaknesses, estimating the amount of administrative costs incurred during that time is difficult; however, at a minimum, Fish and Game incurred costs totaling $18,000 to print the stamps.

RECOMMENDATIONS

To ensure that the fish stamp fulfills its intended benefit, Fish and Game should work with the committee to develop a spending plan that focuses on identifying and funding viable projects and on monitoring revenues to assist Fish and Game in effectively using the fish stamp revenues.

To track and report project costs adequately, Fish and Game should do the following:

- Improve the tracking of individual project expenditures by assigning each fish stamp project its own project cost account within the accounting system.

- Require that project managers approve all expenditures directly related to their projects. Project managers should periodically reconcile to accounting records the records for their respective projects and should report expenditures to the staff responsible for preparing the advisory committee reports.

To make certain that it provides complete and accurate information to the committee, Fish and Game should do the following:

Have reported to the club and shown photos to the club at a regular meeting

Reporting means informing the membership-simple as that - Does not mean that the person must give a slide show presentation, just tell the club where you fished, how you did, what you used - show some pictures.

The purpose of the award is to encourage members to explore, fish as many new waters as they can, tell the membership about the experience therefore encouraging others to do likewise.

PROJECT HEALING WATERS Attention Mission Peak Members PROJECT HEALING WATERS

Who among you would like to join me and be part of helping our veterans through this worthwhile program?

What you might ask is involved? It can be as little as a group of us going out to Livermore and and/or Palo Alto once a month to teach fly casting and fly tying to our wounded veterans. It could go as far as accompanying a group of veterans on a fishing trip to be their 'gillie' and personal assistant on that trip.

I have made the initial contact at Livermore VA Nursing unit and their seems to be an interest, but I cannot do it alone.

I'd bet we can get funding help from the FFF, NCCFFF, the Elks Lodge, Kiwanis, VFW, and other service organizations, all we need to do is give a little of our own time to those who have given so much for us.

If interested please contact me, Thanks

Ken Brunskill

Editorial

Here we are in the month of November already. Time sure flies when you are having fun. Talking about fun, some of us retired members of the club thought about doing lunch during the middle of the week at least once a month. Maybe we can combine lunch with volunteers for PROJECT HEALING WATERS. Contact me if anyone have any ideas.

Don't forget to vote for the club's officers for 2009. Ballots have been sent via email or come to the meeting on November 19 to cast your vote.

Be sure to sign up for the Club's annual dinner in January. Send in your reservations soon to Bill Peakes and receive an early bird raffle ticket. The dinner is a great hit with spouses; it gives them a chance to get to know who your fishing buddies are!

If you have a recipe that you would like to share with fellow members, email it to me so I can publish it in the newsletter. Until next month, may your fly rods be bent.

The above fishout calendar is tentative and subject to change. Always contact the fishmaster the week of the fishout to be notified of changes due to weather and unforeseen circumstances. Also check the newsletter for detailed information on fishing tackle, flies, directions and accommodations, as recommended by the fishmaster.

Note that only the fishouts shown in BOLD on this calendar are actually confirmed at this time; all others are tentative.

The actual dates of wintertime fishouts are highly dependent upon the weather conditions and will be confirmed by the fishmaster the week of the fishout.

Your ideas for fishout locations are always welcomed by the club. Phone Jeff Lorelli to volunteer as a fishmaster. The qualifications for a fishmaster are that you have a place in mind, know how to get there, and would welcome some fishing companions. That is it, so sign up now!

TIPS AND IDEAS

FLY FISHING AIDS AND REMEDIES

EFFECTIVE PRESENTATION FOR WET FLIES

Part I of III

By Calvin Chin

An effective presentation may be accomplished by a dead-drift followed by a downstream swing with emphasis on adequate line mending and control. However skillful this line manipulation may be, you are limited nevertheless by your notions of what the fly is doing. Mending and this latter limitation will be discussed in following articles.

In the dead-drift phase, you ease across stream and allow the fly to drift downstream without drag; whereas in the subsequent downstream swing phase, you mend upstream to straighten the line just before it starts to cross over and maintain the produced line configuration all the way directly below you. Consequently, the path of the fly will describe an elongated "L" shape. Anywhere along this path, a fish may be nearby. So, to better the odds, you repeat the combination without taking a step downward but with each succeeding cast lengthened by two line pulls from the reel. By the fifth cast, you will have covered an area of 10 square pulls or about 400 square feet...a lot of water. Now, take several steps downstream and begin all over until you get into fish.

Through all phases of the drift the rod tip should be held up to cushion the abrupt grab of a big fish. Slow water forgives a lower rod elevation but fast water demands rod tip heights of 3 feet or more above the water. Also, a high rod tip will create more slack which aids in hook setting by applying the fish and line angle method mentioned in a previous article.

At least annually, provide the committee with written reports of actual project expenditures and detailed information on project status as well as total administrative expenditures.

Ensure that the information it communicates to the committee is accurate.

Fish and Game should reimburse its general fund appropriation for the lease payments that should have been paid from the fish stamp account.

To ensure that employees appropriately charge their time to fish stamp projects, Fish and Game should take these steps:

Provide guidelines to Fish and Game employees concerning when to charge activities to the fish stamp account.

Discontinue the current practice of charging payroll costs to the fish stamp account for employee activities we identified as not pertaining to the program. In addition, Fish and Game should determine whether it inappropriately charged any other expenditures to the fish stamp account and make the necessary accounting adjustments.
